We will discuss performance matters, stage behaviour, how to train for secure public performances, or how to enjoy on our own our performances. We will prepare for concerts and exams where we can show our improved performance skills and masterful interpretations of piano pieces.

ADVANCED PIANO PERFORMANCE COURSE

For all advanced piano performers

Performing at home for yourself is a very soul-satisfying and enjoyable experience... but can sometimes get lonely and may lack some direction. There is a shortage of piano performing opportunities where adult piano students can present their skills: festivals, ensemble courses and other concert platforms usually target the younger student.

The course invites all pianists of a high performing standard of playing to come and socialise with music and discussions, observe others playing, join the performance schedule and play regularly to a small like-minded peer group, take part in specially organised concerts, form chamber music ensembles, find a place where their love towards music and piano will be nurtured with understanding and appreciation.
